

773rd Enterprise Sourcing Squadron

The 773rd Enterprise Sourcing Squadron is part of the Enterprise Sourcing Group. The squadron provides enterprise-wide medical acquisition support to the Air Force Medical Service Agency, supporting both the Air Force Medical Operation Agency and the Air Force Medical Support Agency.

History

Historically, the Air Force has taken a tactical approach in acquiring services. This approach is generally fragmented and does not provide leverage for enterprise-wide buying power. The support process for customers needs to be responsive and efficient while gaining the most cost effective outcome possible. The 773 ESS was developed to utilize enterprise strategic sourcing support for the Air Force Surgeon General.

Goals

The goals of the 773 ESS are:

- Provide enterprise-wide medical acquisition to the Air Force Medical Services
- Reduce the purchase cost of services

- Increase standardization and responsiveness
- Accelerate delivery with no break in service.
- Provide lifecycle management support

This streamlined approach will maximize small business opportunities and address the full socio-economic spectrum of customers.

Industry Impact

Certain organizations will experience changes in the requirement process and may be asked to adjust their traditional business mindset. During this change, the 773 ESS may need support in identifying requirements well in advance of the need date, and utilizing the negotiated contract vehicles that are ultimately awarded to ensure cost and manpower efficiencies.
